

OUR GUIDE TO BARN LIGHT GARAGE LIGHTING

Garage lighting plays an important role in the overall exterior lighting plan for any home. The garage not only serves as the access point for many homeowners but is often the first structure visitors see as they approach the home. Stylish, easy-to-customize fixtures from Barn Light Electric offer plenty of illumination without harsh glare while adding the curb appeal you desire!

What are the most popular Gooseneck Arms used for garage gooseneck lighting?

Great question! We have more than 25 Gooseneck Arms and we've seen customers use them all. However, our most popular gooseneck arms include: G22, G15, G11, G3 and G1.

2-CAR GARAGE

For two-car garages, multiple options exist for lighting including one large fixture over each door, one large fixture between two doors, or smaller fixtures flanking the doors. Depending upon your taste, the amount of light can be manipulated with the type and wattage of bulb. If you choose a guard-and-glass style like the red fixtures above, you can choose clear, ribbed, frosted, or colored glass to control the amount of light emitted.

3-CAR GARAGE

For larger garages with three or more doors, most customers opt for one light over each door. This spreads the light across the width of the building providing plenty of downlighting onto each entry. A variety of mounting options are available to suit different facades, roof overhangs, door styles, and personal tastes. Barn Light Electric garage lighting is easy to customize to suit most any home style!

GARAGE SIDE DOOR

Many garages have side doors or “man doors” for easy access. To create a cohesive look to your garage lighting, consider using the same style of shade for the side door but in a smaller size. Thanks to Barn Light Electric’s array of customizing options, there are multiple sizes, finish colors, and mounting options to choose from for all of our American-made lights.
